"Beware the Wild Cat"

(Contributed)

"Saturday Night" Toronto, issues solemn warning to all and sundry to "keep off the grass" of the Alberta Oil fields and produces once more the bogey "Wild Cat" in support. "Lots of gas and not much oil" is the statement to date. "Lots of gas and a moderate quantity of oil" is the prophesy of the future. Not very encouraging even for the Imperial Oil company which is a subsidiary company of the Standard Oil company. Still less encouragement for the Westerners who are relying upon Alberta to furnish them with Canadian oil instead of the American brand in the future. Not even much encouragement for the old bogey "the wild-cat." Yet still they drill on. Still they cap the "dusty holes" and still they watch and wait. The East also sits still and after long confabulations with the oil barons of America in the United States, after fully investigating Canada's Western oil problems, from an easy chair yells "wild-cat."

Sure—Western oil is a "wild cat" even the Imperial Oil says so, and they know it must be true, for have they not spent many dollars to find out? But—and again But—Why this sudden solicitude for the poor unfortunate "Sucker" who likes to gamble just as well as those whose gambling is governed by cold-blooded business? Why these solemn warnings not to start anything which will lead anyone or everyone to believe there is Oil at Fabyan, is oil in Peace River, is oil at Fort Norman? Why the careful suggestion that the field is so difficult of entry, that old bogey of Hudson Bay days, when the trapper was a "butterski" at least he was told so, and again, Why? Should not the Westerner or the Easterner for that matter spend his money wild catting for oil, with every reasonable chance of finding it—or, of having found it, as to pay the same charge in guise of American oil purchases? And so the game goes on, the battle of the Standard Oil, the battle of the Shell company, the battle of Nations, with the small fry—"Suckers"—"Wild-Catters" and hopeful ones edging in. As the Wall Street Journal of a recent date said, "It is a battle of giants" and the prize is the vast Bonanza, outvaluing the Rand, the Klondyke, or the Kimberley Diamond Mines, a discovery, which, if proved up as indications point, will put all other oil fields in the shade. Hence the jockeying, the concealment, the contradiction, the warning "Beware" and the "Open Policy" of carefully half printed truths. "Lots of gas but not much oil" says Toronto, and passes the field up. But here is what several well known authorities have to say as to the field. Statements made at various times and under various conditions—on the field of the drill, to the local citizens, whose excitement must be cooled, otherwise they might "wildcat", and in the East at the dinner tables of the mighty. True statements?—may be, maybe not, but then, someone took them for truth and published them. Here they are: Mr. A. M. McQueen of the Imperial Oil company from the Canadian Mining Journal dated 28th of July, 1922—page 492—an extract from that interesting, useful, and exceedingly bright publication 'Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada, published by the C. P. R.; Mr. McQueen is vice-president of the Imperial Oil company, therefore speaks with authority.

"The possibilities of the field can be determined only by drilling. Four wells are now in operation. The expenditure in the district has been and will be heavy. The Company recognizes, however, that all that can be accomplished as a result of this heavy expenditure is simply to demonstrate whether or not there exists in that country a reservoir of oil which may become available many years hence when OIL IS MUCH SCARCER, AND THE PRICE MUCH GREATER THAN IT IS TODAY.

So much for the Fort Norman field to which this statement refers. He did not say anything about the field being practically proved. That, there are on the ground, eight, five thousand gallon tanks all filled with light oil from the Norman well, and that the balance of the steady gusher flow was being allowed to run into the River. Mr. McQueen did not tell the public that the two other wells being sunk in the vicinity of the Norman well had simply been bored to the oil cap, and there drilling had stayed. He said nothing either about the sixty miles of leases on both sides of the river which are covered today and controlled by whom?—OH! LOOK UP THE RECORDS.

So much for the Fort Norman Field, which authentic report, and recent at that, states is OIL and again OIL. So much for Fort Norman, and still the drill goes down—still the well is CAPPED, and still the depreciating cry—"Beware the Wild-Cat". AND THE FABYAN WELL? about which so much has been heard, so many rumors floated, so many absolute facts made known, so many people who are willing to stake their life on what they have actually seen—yet so many denials made. Full-visioned, intelligent and most conservative people have seen the Oil Gusher, have smelt oil, have watched after the movements of the driller and his crew, stood in oil, naked oil away and still "there is no oil" but still the drill goes on, and still Dame Hope flies high—and still once more it is denied. "No use in crying Gusher when there is no Gusher". No use in saying there is oil in Commercial quantities when there is not—Nearly but not quite. No use in drilling any further, but, but, still the drill goes down, through the Cretaceous, through the water, and on into the Devonian where the lighter oils are found, and still the well is CAPPED—CAPPED—CAPPED. Why Capped? Because there is no oil.

The British Royal Commission takes a hand investigating natural resources of the British Empire. This Commission stated that Northern Alberta was evidently one of the largest possible oil bearing countries on the face of the Earth, and the best prospect of today on the North American Continent. And here again is Dr. George M. Dawson, the great Canadian Geologist. "All the circumstances point to the probable existence of a GREAT PETROLEUM FIELD."

Once more, while there is still no oil—once more, while Eastern arm-chair critics shout "wild-cat" like parrots repeating the slogan of the Imperial Oil company, the subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of the United States, which is "we can wild-cat but not you", the drill still goes down. The "Dusty hole is capped" and still there is "No Oil".

And now come to the field that has especially been picked out as the bogey field, which is the Peace River field, and now for the arm-chair critics with facts and data gathered, as admitted from the Imperial Oil company who have "no interest in the Peace River field"—at least not officially. Once more the well is sunk, once more the eye witnesses see light oil from ten inch casing rise fifty feet high in the derrick for over an hour and photograph taken of same, and once more "no oil in commercial quantities, and water is allowed to take possession, and once more the cry goes forth "a dusty hole". But is behind another hole is put down and at the 1510 ft level into the Devonian after 90 feet of oil sands were penetrated, oil flows out into the Peace River, well is capped, is here surrounded by bar-wire entanglements, watchman is at once placed to guard well with gun, but still the cry goes forth "No Oil" and the Eastern arm-chair critic takes up the cry "Beware the Wild Cat"—once more the dusty hole is capped—but still there is no oil—just gas and a little oil, with a future of gas and a "Little Oil".

But here are facts vouched for, conservative and interesting:

"The story of oil exploration in the Peace makes all ponder who give it a thought, it has a romantic tinge, a full flavor of wildcats? May be, maybe not. It seems to spell more of "keep off the grass". On October 11th, 1917, the McArthur well came in at 980 feet and on the first day there was forty feet of oil in the well. Drillers quit and went into town and filed on leases, so much for the drillers opinion. The oil is 18 degrees Baume. On the following day twenty four citizens of the town of Peace River and Edmonton visited the well and the driller reported a raise of fifty feet in well since bailing the day before, being ninety feet of oil in the well, and stating capacity of well to be one hundred barrels if placed on pump. So much for "a little oil". Drilling was continued through seventy feet of oil sands to a depth of 1032 feet, oil having been struck at 692 foot level, and the oil rose five hundred feet in the casing—but still no oil had been struck" and the drill went on down through 53 feet of heavy asphaltum when water was reached, which flooded the well. But the driller who also drilled four other wells in the district pointed out that with proper rigging it was perfectly possible to go deeper, through the sands producing Commercial oil, through the salt water, and through the oil cap of the Devonian limestone lying on top of the main oil pool, and under the salt water. He illustrated and corroborated this many times, giving examples of American wells, where similar conditions are not common and are overcome by the use of proper equipment. McArthur well No. 3 suffered the same fate—in each case the top oil sands were passed through, in each case no effort appears to have been made, to shut off the salt water, a perfectly easy matter according to the driller, and in each case the well is ruined by salt water. But still the drill goes on.

The old bogey "Tar not Oil" is exploded beyond recall. Refining by the cracking process gives sixty-five per cent kerosene and gasoline; thirty per cent lubricating oil and only five per cent residuum in form of Asphalt. This explodes the bogey "Tar not Oil".

Now, if not too much trouble, let us see what has taken place in the very last well drilled, and see what the Bogey here is. Peace River Petroleum No. 2. Top oil passed up as before, also salt water as before. The Devonian limestone entered with the result that thirty million cubic feet of wet gas was liberated, which cleaned water out of hole, and stood a column of 34 degree baume oil fifty-two feet high in the derrick for over an hour, long enough for the drillers wife to take a photograph of the Gusher. Gas exhausted itself and once more water got control. Still "No oil" is there. In the face of these facts there are any doubt as to why oil in the Peace River field? In the face of the driller's statements, eye witnesses statements, and the fact that each and every well to the number of eight wells drilled are left in the same condition after oil has been discovered covering a distance of thirty miles, which means closed for future use. How can the East fairly express an opinion, excepting only the opinion of the vested interests, whose objective is reported to be a future reservoir and not present immediate use of Canada's greatest and most needed natural resource. Why is it that when oil is mentioned, the answer is "WILD-CAT"? What thought or reason why the sudden solicitude and interest shown by the BIG OIL COMPANIES in the protection of the "Sucker" from the "wild-cat"? Has not everything worth finding in Canada had its genesis in the "Wild-Cat" which is another word for the term of Pioneering—where the prizes are enormous for the lucky ones, and the others who lost like white men smiled and tried again and again. Why this sudden enthusiasm and then this of silence—excitement fading away as the oil fades by reason of water and gas pressure, and only the well is capped. Again, Why? Why? Why the bogey and the scare. Is it because some one wants to grab off the rich prize of Canada's Oil Fields? Do you believe that eye witnesses are cross-eyed and cannot see? That great Corporations have suddenly become philanthropic and think more of the public interest than dividends. When they cry "WOLF" think it over, think what the development of Canada's oil fields mean to the bill of Canada today at present rendered by the United States of America, or you believe the cry "Wild-Cat" especially when coming from an Eastern arm-chair. Do not take small cloth for whole. There is always a string and someone to pull it, especially in OIL.

Canada's leading question of today is "Who shall own her OIL RESERVOIRS? SHALL THEY REMAIN BRITISH?"

And now sir, my last complaint to all this Hellish Policy in keeping our Canadian Oil Fields in the background is the Knocking attitude of the Edmonton Journal. Is the Edmonton Journal financed by Canadian or United States capital? If in the hands of the latter interests it cannot be hard to see why it is systematically knocking our Alberta Oil development, and so very outspoken in support of the Imperial Oil interests. There should be a law passed to compel drillers of oil wells in Alberta to show up what has been discovered, to the public in order to advance the oil interest of Alberta and of Canada, and not be allowed to cap the well and place watchmen over the same, as has been the case at the Fabyan well near Wainwright and Irma. I am personally acquainted with too many people who like myself have seen the Fabyan Gusher, gushing real live oil to the height of one hundred and twelve feet in the air, not to believe and know that a real oil field exists at Irma and district.

BRITISH PETROLEUMS RESUME DRILLING

After a couple of weeks of cold weather during which drilling operations have been suspended at the B. P. well east of Fabyan, the company have resumed operations today. We understand the hole is down between 1500 and 1600 feet and the drill is in a dark shale. The hopes of the men at the well are very encouraging and the next few weeks should see some good developments.

DECISION TO SET CASING IN McLEAN WELL IS REACHED

Decision to set casing to close off the water in the McLean well has been reached, and work will be started immediately to cement. The casing will be set, if at all possible, without the use of cement, but if cement is the only way to shut off the water it will be used. The bit now stands at some 2,800 feet in the McLean. The prevailing idea is that the Madison limestone has not been reached. As the most likely oil strata is that lying just on top of the Madison the drillers are quite hopeful. However, if the Madison line has been reached, there is still a good chance, as three distinct oil formations have been encountered from anyone of which production may be possible on the water pressure being removed.

Hon. Archie McLean went to the well Monday morning to make all arrangements for setting the casing. Tuesday afternoon at Edmonton Mr. McLean stated he had just received a telephone message from the well and that the gas pressure was increasing all the time also that a coating of oil had accumulated on top of the 2,000 feet of water in the hole and that the cable and baler were saturated with oil.

GET A GOOD WELL

For some time Mr. S. W. Hess who is living on section 17-46-7, on one of the Sections owned by the Anderson Mortgage Co. of Spokane, has been having trouble trying to locate water. Most of the shallow wells in this district have gone dry and the farmers have had to go from 100 to 175 feet with a drilled well before finding another supply. Mr. Hess selected what he thought was a likely place to get a good supply and after having several of the neighbors test the spot with willow crutch and other sure devices for locating wells he came to Irma and secured enough curbing to sink a four foot hole about twenty-five feet deep. The first few feet was easy digging but the deeper he went the dryer and harder it got till the clay was soon so hard that there was no further use of curbing. He kept on digging down and down until he had got 45 feet from the surface with no more signs of water than when he started. He then decided to give it up and got a drill, but one of the neighbors who had never seen the willow crutch fail persuaded him to get a test auger and bore on down with a two inch hole. This was down and after boring some 17 feet the formation appeared to change and became wetter. Encouraged by this indication he decided to dig down at least another 15 feet but before he got that far something happened and the bottom of the hole heaved up and the water started coming in almost as fast as he could climb out. At last reports the water had risen 15 feet in the four foot hole and with two men bailing it out as fast as possible no impression could be made on it. He now thinks he has one of the best wells in the country.

POULTRY MEETING

WELL ATTENDED

Saturday afternoon Mr. T. Clyde of the Egg and Poultry Marketing Service gave an interesting discussion
 on raising more and better poultry
 for all of which he claims there is a big demand, when the right quality is produced. After his introductory remarks considerable time was spent in answering questions and some very instructive information was gained by those interested. A movement was started to have all eggs from Irma shipped through one agent which would give the farmers producing, a better quality a chance to secure the full value for their product. Mr.
 Clyde intends spending some time in the district about the end of the month when he will inspect the flocks
 of anyone interested and will assist in culling out the unprofitable hens and show the breeders which are the right ones to breed from.

Irma School Trustees Meet.

The trustees of the Irma School district met Wednesday evening January 31st at the Municipal building.
 Mr. J. W. Milburn was appointed Chairman for the coming year, also representative for the Irma District
 on the Consolidated High School Board.

On motion of Love seconded by Glasgow the Secretary was instructed to write the owner of S.W. 2-46-9 re transferring this land to the Irma district, so as to be able to take in the S.W. of Section 1 in the same district.
 On a motion of Glasgow-Love Mr. J.
 J. Newberry was appointed as assessor at $50.00 to work in conjunction with the High School Board, it being understood that this appointment
 would be satisfactory to the High School Trustees who have agreed to pay half of the cost of assessing the district.

Moved by Mr. Milburn that the Secretary be instructed to order three copies of the School Ordinance, also what supplies are required for the teachers, and office stationery.

Moved by Love-Glasgow that as complaints have been made re taste of water in the school well that the Secretary at once secure bottles from the University of Alberta and have samples of the water sent to the Provincial Analyst for analysis, and report.

The following accounts were passed and ordered paid: Auditor W. Mason
 $10.00; Imperial Lumber Co. cash $77-
 70; G. L. Morrow, hardware, $18.00;
 McFarland & Co., broom, $1.15; N.
 M. Matheson, for affidavits, $1.25.
